Lesson 2: A teacher (2)

Key words : company vacant status respect in-laws academic admire demonstrate inspire corridor

A Read about Ms Shahana Huda.

Shahana's husband Mr Zamil Huda works in a company office. His firm has a vacant position. On several days he told Shahana, "I want you to apply for the post." But Shahana said, "Please don't insist. I'm joining the local high school as a teacher." "What do you find in a teaching job, Shahana? I don't want you to do it." Her in-laws were also on his side. Yet Shahana joined the school against the will of the family.

Weeks and months went by. Every day Shahana helps with the household work. Every day she works hard to prepare her lessons. Every day she goes to school, teaches her students and helps both weak and bright ones. They often come to her in the teachers' room, in the corridor and even on the road, and talk to her about any academic or personal problems.

Within a year Shahana becomes a very good teacher. Students give her salam wherever they see her. Teachers, even the Head Teacher, admire her. Parents and other people in the community come to see her at home and at the school and pay her great respect.

One day her husband said, "You've opened my eyes, Shahana. Teaching is more than a job. I didn't know it. Congratulations!"

"Thank you," she smiled.

"Tell me, Shahana, how you could be such a great teacher!" Zamil wanted to know.

"I don't only teach my subject, I care for my students. I love them. I myself demonstrate good behaviour and inspire them to be good. That's all I do," replied Shahana.

Lesson 3: A New Generation

Learning outcomes:

After we have studied this unit, we will be able to

- Understand the concept of generational naming and its historical context
- Analyse the unique characteristics and challenges of Generation Z
- Examine the influence of global events on generational identity
- Explore the legacy of generational struggles in Bangladesh
- Evaluate the importance of governance to meet the needs of new generations

GenZ and Revolution

Listen to the song 'Kotha Ko' by Shezan on internet.

Have you heard the song 'Kotha Ko' by Shezan? While singers from earlier generations were often too afraid to use music as a form of protest, artists like Shezan and Hannan have courageously spoken out. Their rap songs became anthems of the July Uprising in 2024. The new generation is no longer afraid; they are brave and different. But how do we make sense of the difference? What defines different generations? And what are the connections that link them across time?

Although generational labels are rooted in Western ideas and may not universally apply, they can sometimes offer a useful framework for understanding changing social dynamics. The idea of naming generations started in the early 20th century with the 'Lost Generation'. This referred to those who suffered the aftermath of World War I and the Great Depression.

Timeline of generations in the Western world

The naming practice continued with Generation X and then Millennials, eventually reaching Generation Z. Generation Z is a group that grew up entirely in the digital age—the first to zoom into the internet.

Students protest for safe roads wearing a Guy Fawkes mask, Dhaka, Bangladesh, August 1, 2018.

Growing up with social media, a mobile internet, and a lot of information, Gen Z experiences a paradox: hyperconnected yet often isolated, digitally adept but frequently anxious, free yet persistently stressed. They have also witnessed transformative global events—climate crises, political turmoils like the Ukraine-Russia war and the genocide in Palestine that shape the world they are supposed to inherit.

Freedom fighters rejoice in victory, Bangladesh, 1971.

In Bangladesh, the struggle for progress has long been a part of each generation. If the freedom fighters of 1971—largely part of the Baby Boomer generation—helped liberate the country, their struggle laid the groundwork for the 1980s' fight for democracy against autocracy.

A schoolboy chanting slogans with "We Want Justice" painted on his body during the Road Safety protests, 2018.

Today's young generation, born around 2000, carries this legacy forward. The 2018 road safety protests and the brutal crackdown that followed marked a significant shift in Gen Z's consciousness, sharpening their political awareness and reshaping the role of media in their world.

Consequently, the 2024 uprising was led by this generation, who realized the ineffectiveness of political establishments and grew increasingly frustrated with the status quo.

The July Uprising of 2024 signals an urgent call for adaptation. Outdated methods can no longer meet the challenges of today's world. To truly support Gen Z's ambitions, we need concrete steps, as political rhetoric has failed them. Only with this commitment can the vision and energy of this generation be given the support they deserve.

Lesson 4: Whose Child is This?

A Read the poem aloud and then recite it to the class.

Whose Child is This?

"Whose child is this?" I asked one day
Seeing a little one out at play.

"Mine", said the parent with a tender smile.

"Mine to keep a little while
To bathe his hands and comb his hair,
To tell him what he is to wear,

To prepare him that he may always be good
And each day do the things he should."

"Whose child is this?" I asked again,
As the door opened and someone came in

"Mine", said the teacher with the same tender smile.

"Mine to keep just for a little while,
 To teach him how to be gentle and kind,
 To train and direct his dear little mind,
 To help him live by every rule
 And get the best he can from school."

"Whose child is this?" I ask once more,
 Just as the little one entered the door.

"Ours", said the parent and the teacher as they smiled,
 And each took the hand of the little child.

"Ours to love and train together
 Ours this blessed task forever."

[Anonymous]

Note:

tender = kind; gentle; loving to bathe = to wash

2.	2.	2.
3.	3.	3.

D Discuss in groups and write an answer to this question.

Why do both parent and teacher smile and answer the question, "Whose child is this?" by saying "Mine" and "Ours"?

Lesson 5: Fixed price shop

Key words : stationery bargain haggle offer agree on

A Look at the shop and answer these questions.

- 1 What kinds of things do you find in the shop?
- 2 What are the students doing?
- 3 Who is the shopkeeper?

B Read the text and answer the following questions.

Ms Shahana Huda is talking to the students about a new kind of shop.

Shahana : You can buy any stationery items here, like pens, pencils, notebooks, coloured paper, in fact, everything you need, for writing and drawing. You can also buy some food items, like biscuits, buns, bananas, bottles of mineral water and some other necessary things. You can also buy your school uniform and other clothes. There are a number of benefits of this shop. You don't have to bargain or haggle with the shopkeeper over the prices of anything.

Hridoy : What is bargain or haggle, teacher?

Shahana : Suppose you want to buy a shirt or a dress in a shop in the market. You ask, "How much is this?" The shopkeeper says, "300 taka." But in many cases, this price is more than the real price. So you offer 200 taka or even less. The shopkeeper says, "No, I can't sell it for 200 taka." Then you offer 225 taka and he may still say, "No, it'll be a loss for me." This process of asking for and offering more and less money is called 'bargaining' or 'haggling'. It goes on until you both (buyer and seller) agree on a price, say 250 taka in this case. This price is acceptable to both of you.

Sazia : If there is no bargaining, how are we going to buy things?

Shahana : You don't need to bargain. It will be a fixed-price shop.

Questions

- 1 Do you go shopping? Where is the shop?
- 2 What do you usually buy?
- 3 Do you bargain? Why do you do that?
- 4 Do you know about a 'Fixed-price' shop? Where is it? What does it sell?

Lesson 6: Morality Shop

Key words : price tag conscience prick

A Read the conversation to know about the 'Morality Shop'. Then answer the following questions .

Shahana : Today I'm going to tell you about a new kind of shop, where there will be no shopkeeper. The price of each item or thing will be written on a small piece of paper. This price tag will be attached to the item or items. You will pick an item you like, look at the price tag and put the money in the box kept there. And the thing is now yours.

The students are not clear about this kind of shop. They know that a shop always has a shopkeeper . So they are confused.

Sheela : In that case, someone may take a thing and go away without paying.

Shahana : Nobody will do it. If anybody does, it will be stealing.

Ratul : Who'll see them stealing?

Shahana : Conscience. Do you know what conscience is? OK. There is something in your mind called conscience. It tells you whether your actions are right or wrong. Is stealing a right thing or a wrong thing?

Students : Wrong thing.

Shahana : Then your conscience will tell you, "This is a wrong thing. You must not do it." If you steal or do a bad thing, your conscience will prick you and trouble you. And you will never have your peace of mind. So to be a good and happy person, you should have a clear conscience.

Tick the best answers to the following multiple choice questions.

He is hired by the villagers to make chairs, tables, pira (low stool) and other furniture. He is also asked to do small repair work. But Joynul does not find work every day. He lives from hand to mouth.

Nazma does all the work at home from morning to night, rain or shine. Sometimes she sits with Mitu and Nitu, and teaches them Bangla and English alphabets and some numbers. They do not go to school. Nazma could study only up to class 5. Joynul could not study.

Lesson 8: The homemaker (2)

One day Joynul looked for work in his village and in the next village. But his luck did not favour him. He was angry—angry with everybody. When he was back home, Nazma failed to serve his meal. That made him shout at Nazma.

“I had a severe headache and a fever,” said Nazma.

Joynul was trembling with anger.

“The cooking is almost done. Wash your hands and feet. I’ll bring the food soon,” she said.

“Soon! It will take ages!” Joynul shouted wildly.

“What do you do the whole day at home? I work and earn money to run the family. You can’t even cook my meals in time!”

“I don’t earn money, but I also run the family. I do all the work at home - cooking, cleaning, washing, husking, taking care of the children - everything,” said Nazma. “Remember, you work for money but my work in the home can make the family stick together and make it happy. So both types of work are equally important.”

Never before has Joynul thought about these things. He feels guilty. Never before has he looked at Nazma with so much admiration and gratitude.

A Read the letter Hridoy got from his cousin Riah.

Jonakipur High School
P. O. Jonakipur
Dist. Nilphamari
12 May 2013

Dear Hridoy

Thank you for your letter of 1st May. It gives us such an exciting piece of news! I cannot still believe that there could be a shop without a shopkeeper. I talked about it with my relatives, friends, classmates and, of course, my teacher, Miss Nishat. Everybody was surprised. Miss Nishat liked the idea so much that she immediately talked about it to our Headteacher. We had a meeting in our school with teachers and students. At the beginning of the meeting, the Headteacher asked me to talk about the Morality Shop in your school. At first I read out part of your letter and then I explained how such a shop in your school is greatly helping you – the students, teachers and the community at large. The Headteacher was quite positive about the usefulness of such a shop. He formed a committee with Miss Nishat and two other teachers and some senior students to draw up a plan for opening a morality shop in our school. Isn't it great? You will be glad to know that I am on the committee too.

I'm coming to see your Morality Shop with a friend of mine next weekend. See you then. Give my regards to Aunt and Uncle.

All the best.

Riah

B Imagine you are Hridoy. Write a reply to Riah's letter.

F Project work: Find a person in your area who is different from others in giving service to the society. Talk to her / him and prepare a short biography of the person.Lesson 12: A hospital window

Key words : vivid overlook view skyline in detail

A Read aloud the story about a hospital window and think about the questions.

Two sick men were given the same room in a hospital. One man could sit up in his bed. His bed was next to the room's only window. The other man spent all his time lying on his bed opposite the window. The men talked for hours almost every day. They talked about their wives and children,

Q1 Can you guess why they talk about all these things?

Every afternoon the man in the bed by the window would sit up and talk to his roommate about all the things he could see outside the window. The man on the other bed eagerly waited for this speaking and listening time. His friend's vivid descriptions of passing things seen through the window inspired him to live.

Q2 Can you guess what the man near the window talked about to his friend?

The window overlooked a park with a lovely lake. Ducks and swans played on the water, while children floated their paper boats. A wonderful view of the skyline could be seen in the distance.

The man by the window told his friend all this in detail. The listener would close his eyes and see everything in his mind's eye.

Q3 What would the listener feel and do if one day his friend could not sit up and talk?

Days and weeks passed. One morning the doctor came to the room on his daily round. He found the lifeless body of the man by the window. He died peacefully in his sleep. The doctor made all the arrangements to take the body away.

The sad friend wanted to move to the empty bed next to the window. The doctor allowed him.

On his new bed the man painfully propped himself up. He was very excited. He slowly looked through the window to see the real world outside. What did he see?

Q4 Can you guess what he saw?

The window just faced a blank wall. He asked the doctor, "Doctor, I see nothing but a blank wall. How could my friend describe so many wonderful things outside the window?"

The doctor replied, "Did he? The man was completely blind!"

B Discuss in groups and write an answer to this question:

Why did the blind man describe all those wonderful things outside the window?
